Act swiftly on program, Nixon tells Congress

Nixon, pledging a new spirit of compromise, called on Congress today "to play its proper role in guiding the affairs of the nation" by taking swift, decisive action on his major legislative proposals before the end of the year.

Asserting that the next four months will be a "time of great testing" for Congress, Nixon submitted a 15,000 word second State of the Union mes-

350 acres burn in Los Serranos blaze; none hurt

CHINO - More than 100 firefighters from the Chino Fire Department and the State Division of Forestry, aided by fire aerial bombers fought a 350-acre brush fire here Sunday in a nine-hour battle that included several close calls with dis-

A Division of Forestry pumper-tanker with two men aboard reportedly tumbled down a steep ravine when the narrow fire road it was on caved in. The two men crawled out of the wrecked truck shaken but uninjured.

Chino Fire Chief Art Koron said the fire, several miles southeast of Los Serranos Country Club, was reported at 10:54 a.m. by a sheriff's unit in the area. Koron said five Chino units and 20 forestry units responded to the large fire, being pushed by gusting winds. "When we got to the area we found it almost inaccessible," said Koron. He said firemen drove across the golf course, cut a fence and drove up the rocky slopes. "It was rough going, but our trucks finally got there by making their own fire roads," he said.

While Chino fire units pulled up to the north end of the rapidly enlarging fire the forestry units attacked it from the south, calling for assistance from the Hemet fire control station in Riverside County. Koron said that five aerial bombers, including a B-17, overflew the area dropping tons of fire retardant.

"One of our fire units became trapped during the blaze," said Koron. He said the truck was manned by fireman John Kinnick who asked for assistance. Kinnick was surrounded by fire in the canyon, said Koron, but used the trucks monitor gun to keep the flames back. He said the monitor gun is normally used to pour a heavy stream of water on struc-

Koron said that while Kinnick was protecting his truck Asst. Fire Chief Bud Malony reported he and his unit were doused by red-colored fire retardant dropped by one of the aircraft.

Koron said the fire became potentially dangerous when the wind shifted from the northeast to the east in mid-afternoon. He said the wind shift trapped Kinnick with his unit and nearly trapped several other Chino units on the scene.

This morning several Division of Forestry fire trucks and their crews remained at the scene of the fire that was finally brought under control at 8 p.m. Koron said that the fire may have been started by youths smoking or hunting in the area.

On inflation —which members of Congress said they had learned is the No. 1 issue in the minds of the public -the President said: "Americans want and deserve decisive action to fight rising prices. And they want every possible step taken now -not a year from now or in the next session of the Congress."

Nixon said that "in the spirit of responsible cooperation which must prevail between the executive and the Congress if we are to make genuine progress this fal, I am full prepared to work closely with members of the Congress in hammering out modifications" in disputed legislation.

He stressed at the same time that he would continue to fight any moves by the Democratic controlled Congress to increase federal spending, reduce the defense budget or limit the powers of the presidency.

"The problems of the nation are pressing, and our elected leaders must rise to the occasion," he said. "These next four months will be a time of great testing. If the Congress is to play its proper role in guiding the affairs of the nation, now is the time for it to take swift and decisive action."

In his expressed spirit of cooperation, Nixon met this morning over breakfast with House Speaker Carl Albert and House Democratic Leader Thomas P. O'Neill. He met Friday with Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield and Mansfield said today he felt Nixon was serious about cooper-

Richardson won't devulge list of tapped telephones

WASHINGTON (PI) -Atty. Gen. Elliot L. Richardson declined today to furnish senators considering Henry A. Kissinger's nomination a list of members of the National Security Council staff whose telephones were tapped in

In a 90-minute private meeting with the committee, Richardson did tell the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that no committee staff member "has at any time been subjected to electronic surveillance by the Department of Justice."

Richardson met with the panel prior to the resumption of public hearings on Kissinger's nomination to be secretary of state. The nomination hit a snag Friday because of demands by some members that the wiretap information be furnished as a condition for confirmation. Kissinger said he approved the wiretaps as part of an effort to track down news leaks of sensitive national security matters.

Richardson said he was giving the committee all information he had available on the procedures involved in the wiretaps and Kissinger's role in the matter. But he added, "The committee's interest would not be served by furnishing information about indivi-

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said earlier today that he did not believe Kissinger's nomination was "in any danger" and said he felt the wiretap information being sought would be made available.

Asked what would happen if Richardson did not provide it, Mansfield said "I think it will mean a delay" in Kissinger's confirmation. Richardson said all wiretaps in cases involving domestic security and violence were stopped last year as a result of a Supreme Court decision on electronic surveillance.

Nixon lawyers ask court to overturn tapes ruling

WASHINGTON (UPI) - President Nixon asked a U.S. appeals court today to overturn a lower court order that the President hand over to Judge John J. Sirica tapes of his secret Watergate related conversations. White House lawyers called the ruling "utterly without precedent."

In a 95-page brief, Nixon's attorneys said Sirica was pre-empting the President's authority to decide whether the public interest would best be served by keeping presidential conversations confidential.

As recently as a year ago such a ruling would have been unthinkable," the brief said.

"The universal view of the legal community ... was that the courts lack the power to substitute their judgment for that of the President on an issue of this kind and that they lack power to compel a President to make production," the brief said.

The presidential lawyers said the clamor over the Watergate affair had created a climate in which long established constitutional principles were in danger of being violated.

They urged the U.S. Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia to make its judgment "in calmness and not (be) moved by the passions of the moment" upholding the President's right to maintain the confidentiality of his

"It is no exaggeration to say that the revelations of Watergate have so sharpened the public appetite for more revelations that the claim of a presidential right and responsibility under the Constitution to maintain the confidentiality of presidential conversations must run the gamut of a broadly held ... sentiment that the claim is probably unjust and therefore presumably unsound," the brief said.

"The hydraulic force arising out of that sordid and unhappy episode has led men of great distinction to suppose that the Constitution means something different today than it meant throughout all of our history and to contend that the need to exhaust every avenue of factual inquiry concerning Watergate ranks so high in our national priorities that it must be served even if the cost is to impair markedly the ability of every President of the United States from this time forward to perform the constitutional duties vested in him."

Sirica, chief judge of the federal district court in Washington, ordered the White House to produce for his perusal nine tapes in question. Nixon had made clear in advance that he would oppose this "in camera" inspection tapes -that is, in the judge's chambers -as well as turning the tapes over directly to the Watergate grand Watergate special prosecutor Archibald Cox was not satisfied with the ruling completely and has asked for a modification aimed at trying to make sure the grand jury gets the tapes. Sirica had said that after listening to them, he might not turn them over to the grand jury if he felt they contained sensitive matters on other subjects that he felt the jurors should not hear.

The President's lawyers contended Nixon's cooperation with investigations into the Watergate scandal had been unprecedented. Despite this, they said, he stands accused by many "of obstructing rather than facilitating the investigations" and implied Sirica had acquiesced to public opinion in making his decision.

The lengthy document cites numerous legal cases, treatises and legal articles to substantiate the argument that the President has the sole right to determine when private conversations he holds with his aides can be made public. The lawyers said that "what may seem inevitably just in the heat and excitement of an unprecedented political scandal" could prove "inexerably corrosive" to constitutional principles that must stand the test of an uncertain future.

One dead, dozen others wounded by terror blasts

LONDON (UPI) - Bombs exploded in two busy train stations in central London today, killing at least one man and injuring at least a dozen others, police said. Another bomb was discovered in a third station, but it did not explode.

Scotland Yard headquarters said two of the wounded were so badly injured they were not expected to survive, but said no reports of any dead had been received from the hospitals taking ca-

Police officers at the scene said, however, that one man, whom they described as being possibly Japanese, was standing virtually on top of the bomb at Euston and was killed.

The bomb blasts marked the beginning of the trial of 10 Irish Republican Army (IRA) activists in nearby Winchester on charges they set a bomb blast last March which killed one person and injured more than 100 persons in Whitehall Street, center of the British government.

The death of a man in Euston station was the first fatality in a terrorist bomb campaign which police have blamed on the IRA.

At Euston station, the bomb exploded in a crowded diner. A caller with an Irish accent telephoned a British press agency and said a bomb was about to go off, but it exploded less than three minutes later, giving police no chance to evacuate the area.

A porter at the station said the dead man was an Oriental. "There was blood everywhere," he said.

A third bomb was found at Charing Cross, which had been evacuated. It was removed by bomb squad experts. A bomb scare at Victoria Station proved to be a hoax, police said.

The Senate passed a bill last week to limit a similar ban to a one-year trial

The bill approved by the House Communications Subcommittee received one dissenting vote -cast by Rep. James M. Collins, R-Tex.

The House version originally would have banned TV broadcast blackouts when games were sold out 48 hours in advance. It was amended by the subcommittee to conform to the Senate's 72-hour time period.

The measure would require the Federal Communications Commission to report to the subcommittee no later than April 15 of each year on the bill's effectiveness.

The subcommittee chairman, Rep. Torbert MacDonald, D-Mass., indicated he would try to obtain House action on the bill this week -before the pro football season begins next Sunday.

Russ scientists off to establish station in Arctic

MOSCOW (UPI) - Soviet scientists set out today to establish a drifting scientific station in an unexplored area in the heart of the Arctic, the Tass news agency said today.

The expedition, which left Sunday aboard the ship Captain Kondratyev, is the third in the history of Soviet polar exploration to travel to the heart of the Arctic, Tass said.

Its destination was a flat iceberg about four square miles in area discovered by Soviet explorers last spring. Tass said a reconnaissance plane flew over the iceberg two days ago and dropped national flags of the Soviet Union.

The iceberg is located in the eastern sector of the Arctic at 79 degrees latitude north. Tass said.

It said scientific experiments to be carried out there will be aimed at helping forecast ice conditions in the Arctic and weather conditions in a vast area of the northern hemisphere. The ship will reach the site in four or five days, it said.

However, France and the United States have split cleanly on the question of whether the GATT talks should be linked to a reform of the world's monetary system.

The International Monetary Fund, which writes the grounds rules for the world's money system, meets later this month in Nairobi, Kenya, in an effort tolay the groundwork for monetary reform.

The French are insisting that money reform be completed before serious work on the trade talks gets under way and they also suggest another large devaluation of the American dollar.

Predict more indictments in Yablonski case

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) - The Louisville Courier-Journal reported today that federal investigators predict there will be more indictments and arrests in the Yablonski murder case.

The newspaper quoted high level justice department sources as saying the investigation did not end last week with the indictment of former United Mine Workers President W. A. "Tony" Boyle.

Future indictments, according to the newspaper's sources, will be related to activities within the union to cover up the crime and divert investigators after the murders.

UMW insurgent Joseph "Jock" Yablonski, his wife, and his daughter were murdered Dec. 31, 1969 at their Pennsylvania home by hired killers.

Boyle, and William J. Turnblazer of Middlesboro, Ky., were arrested Thursday and charged with murder in a state warrant and with conspiring to kill Yablonski to deprive him of his civil rights in a federal indictment.

PUC considering phone co.'s request for information fee

LOS ANGELES (UPI) -The California Public Utility Commission reportedly is giving serious thought to allowing the Pacific Telephone Co. the right to charge at least a dime for dialing the information operator.

The Los Angeles Times reported Sunday that it learned the commission is studying plans calling for charging callers for each information call from a private phone.

It is without precedent in California, although callers in Cincinnati already pay a dime for such calls while they're forced to pay a quarter in Quebec,

A state PUC spokesman says the proposal "is justified" as one way to help raise the $301 million of new revenue that Pacific Telephone has told the PUC that it needs to profitably operate, without raising existing rates.

George Donnelly, a phone company spokesman, said plans for ten cent information calls are "premature." A PUC official said the plan -if it went into operation at all - might not be ready for another two years, the time it would take to devise an efficient metering system for the calls.

Donnelly said more study is needed in California to determine if such a new rate is proper.

He noted, however, that the phone company operators in California are handling some two million calls a day. double the figure of 10 years ago. He said it costs the phone company $55 million a year for this service.

WASHINGTON (UPI) -Maj. Gen. J. Milnor Roberts, chief of the Army Reserve, says Army rules against long hair are making it harder for him to maintain his service's manpower level.

"fairer and simpler," and he renewed a pledge to seek a special property tax credit for older people in lower income

Nixon said the same kind of urgency needed to attack inflation was necessary on bills to step up energy resources, combat crime and drug trafficking, improve the quality of schools and to provide better federal programs for urban areas.

Promising to meet more frequently with members of Congress in the coming months, Nixon said he stands "ready to find workable compromises wherever possible on solutions to our national problems."

The President said he believed in a "strong Congress," but he added: "I will continue to oppose all efforts to strip the presidency of the powers it must have to be effective." This presumably referred to his disputes with Congress over executive privelege, war powers and the President's right to refuse to spend money which Congress has appropriated.

"There can be no monopoly of wisdom on either end of Pennsylvania avenue -and there should be no monopoly of power," Nixon said.

To fight inflation, the President renewed his request for flexible authority to establish controls on foods and other exports, and to sell $4 billion worth of goods from the strategic stockpile.

Warning of a possible winter fuel shortages, he said it was "absolutely essential" for Congress to pass his seven energy proposals, particularly the Alaskan pipeline legislation and measures to build deep water ports, permit free market prices for natural gas and establish standards for strip mining.

Nixon listed as his first goal a balanced budget. He said Congress could drive his $268.7 billion budget over the $275 billion mark if it continued present spending trends.

As in his two other public statements on legislative priorities in the past five days, the President was adamant against any cuts in his defense budget which he said is already "at the razor's edge" of security.

said would undermine chances for mutual arms limitations and put the

Selling infant son?-only kidding, says dad

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) by the arms and offering - An unemployed laborer, charged with trying to sell his eight-month-old sons, says he is a heavy drinker who was "just kidding around."

"I love my boys," Tommy C. Parks, 25, said in a jail interview Sunday.

"Sure, I was drunk," Parks said. "But child selling?" Parks and Earl Alexander Bankhead, 30, a cook, were arrested Saturday night and charged with attempting to sell a human being.

Edward C. Fox, 42, Alameda, told policemen outside a hotel that two men in the lobby asked him if he was interested in purchasing one of the babies, Eric ond Philip. Officers said they found the suspects dangling the babies them for sale. The infants were taken to San Francisco General Hospital for checkups. Their mother. Ruth, was being treated at that hospital for a kidney problem.

The mother spotted her twins being carried into the hospital's emergency section as she was leaving and demanded custody. Police refused.

Mrs. Parks said she was unaware of the alleged attempted sale. She said she left the babies with her husband while she went to the hospital.

The children are being cared for at the youth Guidance Center pending a court hearing on the matter

Yorty lost a fourth term bid for mayor in May.

His announcement, rumored for days, was greeted with only moderate enthusiasm by the delegates. He received polite applause at the start and conclusion of his remarks to the convention.

"All things considered," Yorty said, "I believe the Republican party now offers the best hooe for our national preservation as a free nation, as free individuals in a free world. So I am pleased to join with you in what I see as a great common purpose." There was speculation Yorty intended to run for the GOP Senate nomination next year in hopes of capturing the seat now held by Democrat Alan Cranston. "I doubt that very much,"

Such stuff as dreams made of

By JOSEPH FIRMAN

Do you ever dream that you are dreaming? Or are you really DREAMING that you're dreaming you are dreaming?

One time I dreamed I was walking along the street with no pants on. When a cop grabbed me, I said, "Officer, this is just a dream." "Oh is it?" sez he to me. "Well goin' to jail will be a nightmare." Turned out to be no dream, after all.

I was interested in the recent sleep sweep of one Clara Stewart Flagg, self-styled "dream educator." through Los Angeles and other kookie California communities, offering offthe-pajama cuff interpretations of people's dreams and urging them to take positive action with them and thereby solve their

The Flagg-waving took the form of a four-day workshop, or seance, in which 17 people paid $30 apiece to be told that dreaming of a museum represents something obsolete in the dreamer's personality and that dreaming of hymns really means "hims" and represents sexual conflict. Rock the ages!

What really intrigued me in this dream education was Ms. Flagg's urging people to take positive action in their dreams, thus solving their problems. Freud failed, she said, because he didn't teach people how to direct their dreams. She should fail like Freud.

I have tried to apply her principles in my own dream program, but it is easier formulated than fantasized. How do you direct your dreams? Can you say to yourself, "Tonight, I am going to dream I'm a millionaire" and do it? No way. You probably dream you are a shoeshine boy (you're not) and that your wife is hogging all the covers (she is).

My interest in the dream educator was Flagging somewhat, but I would have liked her help with a recurring dream I have almost every time I wash down a large Mexican dinner with a bottle or two of Carta Blanca.

See, in this dream I am playing second base for the New York Yankees and it's a crucial game at the end of the season. This ball is hit at me and I get set, but my glove turns into an octopus, which I suppose reflects my dislike of seafood. The ball, coming very slowly, suddenly becomes the head of the curator of the Natural History Museum, representing, I guess, something old in my personality.

The head bounces high in the air - we're now on the deck of the Queen Mary, halfway to Hong Kong - and when I leap to catch it, the octopus turns into a No. 3 wood. This is clearly a you-know-what symbol, and we won't go into it in a family newspaper. Meanwhile, the gangsters have all gotten into planes, too, and are closing in on me over Verdun, but Mickey Mantle and Snoopy are taking off to save me. Just then Raquel Welch says - I forgot to say she was in the plane with me - she says, "Are you really Capt. Flagg?" Just then the curtain comes down - it seems we were in a college play, "What Price Glory?" and when I turn around . . . .

Where are you, Clara, now that I need you?

$2 billion electronics sales expected

NEW YORK (UPI) - An electronics company official says sales of the electronics distributor industry are expected to reach $2 billion a year by 1977, compared with $1.3 billion at present.

B. Duke Glenn, Jr., president of Arrow Electronics, Inc., said that in addition to its growth the industry is undergoing a fundamental structural change with many marginal, )undercapitalized companies leaving the field or being acquired. He said the larger distributors are gaining an increasing share of the market and by 1977 the 10 largest may account for more than half the industry's volume, compared with about 38 per cent at present.

What Do Many Doctors Use When They Suffer Pain Of Hemorrhoidal Tissues?

Exclusive Formula Gives Prompt, Temporary Relief In Many Cases from Such Pain. Also Helps Shrink Swelling of Such Tissues Due to Infection.

In a survey, doctors were asked what they use to relieve such painful symptoms. Many of the doctors reporting said they either use Preparation H them-selves or in their office practice. Preparation H gives prompt, many cases from pain, itching in hemorrhoidal tissues. And it actually helps shrink painful swelling of such tissues when infected and inflamed. Just see if doctor-tested Preparation H® doesn't help you. Ointment or temporary relief for hours in suppositories.

The tapeworm comes in three varieties

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D. DEAR DR. LAMB - In one of your columns will you talk about the problem of tapeworms. I know an older person who has tapeworms. What will the tapeworm finally do to her? I thought in recent years something might have been found for tape-

Dear Reader - Before writing a syndicated column I had no idea how many people had worms, or at least thought they had worms. There are three types of tapeworms that commonly affect man; the fish tapeworm, the beef tapeworm and the pork tapeworm.

Infection with the fish tapeworm is not uncommon in the New York Jewish housewite. As she makes her own gefilte fish there is a tendency to sample it during preparation. and the incompletely cooked fish is the source. The fish tapeworm can be prevented by freezing fish for 48 hours or more at a temperature of minus 10 degrees centigrade or by being sure the fish is thoroughly cooked before it is eaten.

The fish tapeworm is unique. It absorbs the B-12 in a person's food in the intestine and may cause pernicious anemia. Neither the beef tapeworm nor pork tapeworm does this.

Beef and pork tapeworms may cause some mild, nonspecific abdominal pain and digestive disturbances which may go unnoticed or be attributed to a variety of digestive disorders. Most tapeworms don't cause significent symptoms. This is surprising since beef tapeworm may be from five to 10 yards long. Rarely the worm may block the duct that drains the pancreas or even block the opening to the appendix and cause appendicitis.

The proper method of prevention is eating meat free of infestation and properly cooked. One should avoid eating raw or rare meat in areas where the beef is infected with tapeworm larvae, or the areas where the beef tapeworm is prominent. This includes Mexico, South America and Russia.

The head of the tapeworm is attached to the wall of the intestine with hooks or suckers. The segments of the long ribbon-like tapeworm literally use the food material within the intestinal tract that's already been processed by our own enzymes to feed itself. The pork tapeworm can also invade the muscles, brain and other organs of the body and cause other problems. This characteristic is not shared with either the fish or beef tapeworm. While the fish and beef tapeworm segments that are expelled by man are not contagious (you get the infection by eating the fish muscle or beef muscle that contains the larvae), it is true that the pork tapeworm is contagious and a person who has the prok tapeworm can pass on the infected material to another person by failing to observe strict rules of cleanli-

As you see, there are certain practical points about tapeworms - you should be careful to eat only uninfected fish, beef and pork; second, fish, beef and pork should be properly cooked before it is

NEW YORK (UPI) —"It now looks as though the paper industry could turn out to be one of the more dynamic areas for equity investment over at least the next several years, says Harris, Upham & Co. The paper industry's earnings outlook has underggone a complete about face the firm says, because the "supply-demand equation has changed from one of overcapacity to one of undercapacity" and the current paper shortage should last well into the late 1970s, it adds.

A — Interestingly, while the American public has been reluctant to support the stock market, Europeans have been investing in record amounts—$1 billion in the first quarter. Similarly, U.S. corporations have been buying back their own stock at an unprecedented level. The public, on the other hand, has been investing in large ticket items such as houses, cars, large appliances and color televisions rather than in "shares of the American industry."

The whys and wherefores are numerous—lack of confidence in the government, fear of a recession, concern over galloping inflation and uncertainty about the implications of the dollar's fading value internationally. Uncertainty and lack of confidence have always been a nemesis for the market, which reacts with greater volatility to psychological factors than it does to the fundamentals. An excellent illustration of this at work was provided recently when the market jumped 12 points on strong volume in anticipation of a return to Phase II type inflationary controls.

If the reverse were true, the market would be placing a far different value on stocks. First-quarter corporate earnings were exceedingly healthy, while price-earnings multiples were sagging. The market, as measured by the Dow Jones Industrial Average, is appraising estimated DJIA earnings of $80 at 11x to 12x—lower than at any time in the last decade. This would appear to be a bargain area for investors willing to buck the trend.

Earnings up 16% for Longs

Longs Drugs Stores, Inc., a retail drug chain operating 67 stores in California and Hawaii, has announced a 16-per-cent increase in earnings and a 22-per-cent increase in sales for the six-month period ending July 31.

Unaudited earnings for the period were $4.9 million or 94 cents per share, against $4.2 million or 82 cents per share for the same period in 1972.

Net sales for the six months were $127,728,000 against $104,649,000 for the like 1972 period.

Four new stores were opened the first half of this year in Escondido, Eureka, Marysville and West Covina.

The company has nine more stores, plus a larger replacement for an existing store, under construction.

Rose Hills is more than a mortuary. It is people. People who care... who understand the problems and needs of their fellow man when care and understanding really matter.

Rose Hills people cared enough more than a half century, ago to create the world's most naturally beautiful memorial park.

Those same people have cared enough over those past years to endow Rose Hills with every needed service. In addition to the mortuary in the cemetery, there are chapels, flower shops, mausoleums and crematory...all at one convenient location.

Rose Hills people cared yesterday. And they will care tomorrow.

Because they are dedicated to constant care. As long as there are people who care...there will be Rose Hills.

Iwas born to fly.

Even before I could walk or talk, my father used to look at me and say, "Sylvia, you're going to go places."

Boy, was he ever right! I go to Florida, New York, Los Angeles, New Orleans, even London.

I'm Sylvia Frey and I fly for National. I'm in the air more than most people are in their cars. And you know what? I love it. All of it.

From "Please fasten your seat belts" to "Thank you for Flying National."

From an excited family of four on their way to Walt Disney World in Orlando to a sleepy businessman on his way to a meeting in Houston.

It's all as fresh to me today as it was my first day as a National Flight Attendant. I remember that day. I remember wondering if flying would live up to a little girl's daydreams.

Well, I've stopped wondering. It's even better than I thought. I guess that's why I smile so much when I'm in the air.

And I guess my father really knew what he was talking about.

There's just no doubt about it.

Ali really in shape for tonight's bout?

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI)- Muhammad Ali, pronouncing himself "in shape for the first time in my life," attempts to pick up the pieces of his sagging ring career tonight against Ken Norton, a well-muscled ex-Marine who beat the former heavyweight champion 51/2 months ago.

The oddsmakers have installed the 31-year-old Ali, of Cherry Hill, N.J., as a 5-2 favorite in the 12-round rematch at the Forum here. The fight is scheduled to start at 7:30 p.m. PDT.

A poker-faced Ali weighed 212 and Norton came in at 205 at Sunday's official weigh-in at the new Marriott Hotel where both fighters trained since last Wednesday. Ali weighed 221 and Norton 210 for their first fight.

Ken Norton tests former champion at the Forum Ali, who did not speak to Norton, said, "I'm in condition. You will see tomorrow night. It won't go the distance." Norton remarked, "I think I'm gonna win." Promoter Don Fraser has forecast a crowd of between 14,000 and 15,000 to see what could turn out to be the finale of Ali's famous boxing life. Ali admits that if Norton, 28, beats him in his peak condition, "it's time for me to re-

"No man can break Muhammad Ali's jaw and get away with it," said the trimmed down ex-champion.

It was nearly 10 years ago that Ali stunned the world-and Sonny Liston-to get his title. He was the undefeated king of boxing the night of Feb. 25, 1964, but he was flatfooted fodder the last time against Norton.

Ali insisted that the magic was still there, though.

"I'm at the crossroads of my career," he said. "I have to win and I will. For the first time in my life, I'm in condition. I've trained 15 weeks for this fight, not three weeks like the last

"I got to admit I took Ken Norton cheap before. But not this time. This time I'll float for 12 rounds, like the old Muhammad Ali."

Ali, who was out of boxing for 31/2 years after knocking out Zora Folley in 1967, is making the 15th start of the second phase of his career. He lost to Joe Frazier in 1971 in his bid to regain the title that was stripped from him after he said no to Uncle Sam.

Compared to Ali's 41-2 record, Norton sports a mark of 30-1. He has 23 knockouts to 31 for Ali. Since being stopped by Venezuela's Jose Luis Garcia in eight rounds in 1970, the Carson, Calif., fighter has a string of 14 straight victories, eight of them kno-

"There's no doubt I will take this fight," said Norton," whether it goes one round, five rounds or 12 rounds. I proved I was better the first time and I'll prove I'm better this time, too."

Norton didn't begin fighting professionally until he was 22. He learned the trade in the Marine Corps where he had a 28-3 amateur record, winning the All-Marine heavyweight title three

For the first Ali bout, the mustached Californian got a $50,000 guarantee. His previous biggest purse was $8,000. For the second Ali fight, his payday will be $200,000, $75,000 less than Ali's take.

Eddie Futch, Norton's trainer, warned about overconfidence.

"You know," he said, "Max Schmeling was so confident in his second fight with Joe Louis that he thought he could go out and blow Louis over. He didn't remember how tough it was the first time. He suddenly remembered when it was too late."

Jerry Quarry of Los Angeles, the No. 4 heavyweight contender, faces Tony Doyle of Salt Lake City at 6:30 p.m. PDT in the opener of the Ali-Norton card. They drew in 1965 and Quarry decisioned Doyle two years ago.

The Dodger dugout comes alive as Manny Mota (L) Tom Paciorek (17) and Joe Ferguson check in after Ferguson's three-run homer put them ahead Sunday 4-1. Final score was 5-3 over the Padres.

Fergy puts Dodgers back in win column

By BILL LANGLEY P-B Sports Writer

LOS ANGELES - Joe Ferguson couldn't have found a better time to finally make connections with San Diego pitcher Rich Troedson.

You see, the Dodger catcher and Padre hurler are close buddies.

They started their baseball careers on the same Little League team in San Jose when Ferguson was a bright-eyed youngster of 12 and Troedson was even younger at 9.

"Yes, Rich is a good friend of mine," Ferguson said after he belted a three-run homer off of his old buddy to ignite the Dodgers to that long-coveted victory, a 5-3 decision over the pesky San Diego Padres.

"I saw the pitch real well," Fergy continued. "I think it was my first hit ever against Rich. Our families are real close as his father managed our Little League team and my dad served as his coach."

Ferguson's blast wiped away San Diego's 2-1 lead to turn the game around, ending the Dodgers' nine-game losing streak just when the club threatened to equal its Los Angeles record of 10 set back in 1961. When Andy Messersmith struck out

Derrel Thomas for the final out, you would have thought the Dodgers had won a World Series. The clubhouse was the noisiest it had been in more than a week. "Our losing streak was amazing,"

Fergy said. "We just couldn't put anything together. Today, we did everything right."

While the Dodgers won, they still lost ground in the National League West thanks to the Cincinnati Reds' doubleheader sweep in Atlanta. As a result, the Dodgers open a vital two-game series in Cincy Tuesday night three games behind the Reds.

However, the third-place San Francisco Giants lost to Houston Sunday to fall 51/2 games off Cincinnati's pace.

The Dodgers and Reds both have 18 games remaining on the schedule. Ferguson thinks L.A. will still win it.

"Our pitching staff is well now," he explained. "Don Sutton, Andy Messersmith and Jim Brewer are back. Our pitching staff carries us. We'll be right up there when this is over."

Ferguson snapped a personal 0-for-17 string when he connected in the sixth

"I think I've been trying to hit the ball too hard the last few games," he said. "On my home run today, I just swung the bat and it went out. When you swing too hard, you make the pitchers twice as good."

Fergy drove in a fourth run in the seventh inning to give him a team-high 84 runs batted in for the season. The homer was his 23rd as the Dodgers have hit 91 for the campaign. Manny Mota and Tom Paciorek opened the sixth with singles off of Troedson to set the stage for Ferguson. The Padres scored two runs in the top of the sixth on back-to-back doubles by John Grubb and Dave Roberts to threaten a four-game sweep over the weekend. Messersmith, who had been idle for more than a week with a hamstring pull, proved to be the Dodger stopper as he pitched the distance for his 12th victory.

"No, being the stopper doesn't mean anything to my ego," Messersmith said while soaking his arm in ice. "I'm just glad to get that streak over. We just had a lot of bad streaks." Messersmith threw 75 strikes in his 108 pitches in allowing only seven hits. He walked just one Padre while striing out eight. "I had good stuff today," he claimed. "My one bad pitch was to Roberts."

Paciorek was another Dodger hero as he came through with three singles in starting in place of the injured Willie Davis.

"Ferguson has been carrying us all year," Paciorek said. "His homer turned it around."

DODGER NOTES - KTTV (Channel 11) will telecast both games from Cincinnati Tuesday and Wednesday beginning at 5 p.m. KTTV will also carry the final game of the trip at Houston Sunday afternoon . .

Sutton (16-9) will face lefthander Ross Grimsley (13-9) Tuesday while Wednesday's probables are Claude Osteen (16-7) vs. Jack Billingham (17-8) . . .

The Dodgers are now behind 9-7 to the Padres with only the final two games of the season remaining at San Diego. The Pads won seven-of-nine at Dodger Stadium . . .

While the Dodgers enjoyed a giant 48-24 edge over the East, they are exactly .500 (36-36) against the West and that includes a big 11-2 edge over Second baseman Davey Lopes mis-

Newcombe conquers Kodes at Forest Hills combe leaped the net to greet Kodes, They had seen the sickening downfall

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UPI) -While the men who would like to control the game argued among themselves in the bowels of the West Side Tennis Club stadium Sunday, the people who really mattered - the fans -talked of nothing but the magnificent men's final, in which John Newcombe of Australia emerged as champion.

Newcombe, winning here for the first time since his amateur victory of 1967, had underlined the right of a man to play where he chose to play. He had faced the finest field tennis has seen this year, and he had conquered in the final, 6-4, 1-6, 4-6, 6-2, 6-3, Wimbledon winner Jan Kodes.

Playing in only nine tournaments this year, while the majority of the starting field of 124 men had been traipsing the globe since January, Newcombe proved a man could shun that grind, and still win the prestige, as well as the $25,000, that goes with the U.S. Open crown. It was a fine match, in which Kodes tried valiantly but vainly to duplicate his stunning win in Saturday's moonlight over the world's premier player, Stan Smith.

There were many who downgraded Kodes' Wimbledon win, because Smith, Newcombe and almost all the world's top players had boycotted the hallowed Centre Court.

But on Sunday, Kodes underlined the fact that he was truly one of the best players in the world, and that while he had had easy passage to the Wimbledon title, where he beat Russia's Alex Metreveli in the final, he certainly deserved to be seeded here higher than sixth.

What had become of those seeded ahead of him? Arthur Ashe went down to the teenager from Sweden, Bjorn Borg. Rod Laver went out to the intriguing and smiling 19-year-old from India, Vijay Amritraj. Ken Rosewall had gotten to the semis before running into the power of Newcombe, and Kodes himself had taken care of Smith in the harrowing Saturday semi.

Denver signs pair of vets

DENVER (UPI) -The Denver Broncos Friday announced the signing of veterans Leroy Mitchell and Billy Masters. A spokesman also said veteran offensive tackle Rick Sharp cleared Mitchell, a starting cornerback, is a six-year veteran from Texas Southern. Masters, who alternates at tight end from Louisiana State.

And in this final, he had Newcombe down two sets to one, before the Australian put together a surge which the 50-year-old West Side Tennis Club stadium had rarely witnessed.

Fighting for his life in the fourth set, the 29-year-old Newcombe squared matters as the flow of his service and all-around power dragged Kodes back to even terms. And in the firal set, Newcombe achieved the vital service break in the fourth game, when a backhand down the line gave him break point and Kodes netted a forehand volley.

Newcombe served for the match in the ninth game, and, firing thunderbolts, he led 40-love, to hold three match points. He blasted one at the Czech and ran to the net to accept congratulations, but Kodes had gotten to the ball and instead of a handshake, Newcombe saw the service return whistle by. The crowd roared with laughter and delight, and even Kodes smiled. Newcombe went back to work, and a blinding ace wrapped it up.

World Series of Golf

Weiskopf wins for pride, not money

Akron, Ohio (UPI)-Tom Weiskopf's earnings for the year are past the $300,000 mark now, but the reason he beat Jack Nicklaus to win the World Series of Golf had nothing to do with Weiskopf put it best when someone asked him what was most important about his sixth tournament victory of the year. It's called pride.

We aren't as good yet

as we've looked--Knox

"It was very much of a personal goal for me," he said. "I just thought, I've had such a tremendous year, and it would mean so much to me if I could beat Jack, who's the greatest player in the game.

"I've worked so hard this year to play well, and I just thought that I was a good enough player and I'd never really played him head-to-head," Weiskopf said. "I really wanted to beat him... and I think that was the differ-

Weiskopf did that, holding off a superlative charge by the Golden Bear, shooting a four-under-par 66 and collecting the $50,000 winner's check with a 36-hole total of 137.

Nicklaus, his former Ohio State teammate, long-time friend and winner of more major golf titles than anyone in history, finally faded in the stretch to finish 69-140 and tie Johnny Miller, who had a 67 Sunday, for second place. Tommy Aaron was never a factor in the classy, four-man field of major champions, and finished last with 73-

The decision was settled on the huge, slick greens of Firestone Country Club where Weiskopf, who says he hasn't had a bad putting week since acquiring a new putter in May, one-putted eight times -while Nicklaus blew himself out of it by missing a couple of "gimmes," one of two feet and the other two and a half.

Nicklaus and Miller each earned $11,250 and Aaron received $5,000 for the tourney.

"I can honestly say that's the best putting I've ever seen," said Miller, the U.S. Open champion. "I figured if I shot 68 or 69, I'd win, and I wind up shooting 67 and losing by three. "If I'm not considered the putter of the year, I'll be very disappointed," said Weiskopf, who's probably in line for more honors than that -like PGA Player-of-the-Year. "It's a game of many shots but it really gets down to putting," he said. "I believe that I can make it from anywhere." The issue Sunday wasn't really putting, however. It was really just a man-against-man battle, a fact Weiskopf recognized when he said "it was like match play...I didn't really play the course, I played Jack."

Kilmer will lead 'Skins bid

Kilmer, who took over last season when veteran Sonny Jurgensen was hurt and carried the Redskins to the National Conference title, will be at quarterback next Sunday when the Redskins open the regular season against San Diego.

Despite some impressive performances by Jurgensen, who has battled back from a separated shoulder and a torn Achilles tendon in the past two years, he has been unable to unseat Kilmer, who makes up in inspirational leadership what he lacks in firepower.

Kilmer threw a typical Kilmer pass, an off-balance and wobbly 25-yarder to Roy Jefferson, for the first Washington touchdown and Bob Brunet scooped up a punt blocked by rookie Mike Hancock on the 15 and carried it in for the second TD. Mike Bragg

> "I don't think I can win it." said Miss Whitworth, who had not won a hournament since the fourth tour event this year. "There are too many of them up there."

But Miss Stone lost two strokes over the last five holes and Miss Blalock lost two strokes over the last three holes and it was up to Miss Mills to struggle in with an equalling 213.

Miss Whitworth then left the air conditioned comfort and defeated Miss Mills on the second hole of sudden death when Miss Mills missed a two-foot putt.

"I have come from further off the pace than this and won on the last day," said Miss Whitworth, who made up six shots on Miss Mills. "But I haven't done it lately. I don't really know if I'm out of my slump. I still don't fer right with my swing.

"I actually didn't hit the ball as well today as I did the first two rounds but I putted pretty well-I didn't three putt a green-and I didn't have a bad hole."

Miss Whitworth won $4,950 for her third victory of the year and Miss Mills had to be satisfied with 3,750.

Finishing a shot behind the leaders at two-under-par 214 over the 6,200-yard, par-72 Brookhaven Country Club course were Miss Blalock. Miss Stone and Kathy Ahern.

Miss Blalock, the defending champion, three putted the 16th hole and missed the 17th green to fall out of the lead. Miss Stone had knocked a

That was the way the relentless South African had it figured here Sunday after he held off Forrest Fezler to win the $100,000 Southern Open golf tournament.

According to the calendar, it had been 364 days since Player won the 1972 World Series of Golf. Since then, he has undergone major abdominal surgery which forced him off the PGA tour for three months.

"You really shouldn't say it's been a year since I last won," said Player, who shot 69-65-6769--270 over the 6,791vard Green Island Country Club course. ### Sick puppy not treated, since owner couldn't pay

A friend of mine lost a sick puppy recently because she couldn't afford the cost of the treatment needed to cure her

She went to several animal hospitals, private veterinarians and the Humane Society. They all refused treatments because of her financial state, even though she offered a small monthly

We hope that our concern will help to get some kind of free or low payment animal care in this community. We are wiling to donate our places of residence as a temporary solution to the premises that would be needed. - M. R., La Verne, and H. R., San Dimas

By phone, we learned that one of you lives in a central residential district and the other in a residential-agriculture district. Both preclude keeping animals except for personal use and the nnumber of those is limited.

You expressed the hope that a clinic could be established "like they do for people" for shots and treatment, free or low cost depending on income.

The board of directors of the Humane Society of Pomona Valley, Inc., is discussing the possibility of an emergency animal clinic, we learned from Bruce Richards, executive di-

When we talked with him, the idea had not yet been discussed with veterinarians in Pomona Valley.

Such a clinic would be undertaken only if vets agree, he said, because they already give service to the Humane Society that is worth thousands of dollars yearly.

If such a clinic were established, care would be provided only when the pet owner couldn't afford to pay a veterinarian, Richards said.

After seeing a a write-up in San magazine about a Pomona Valley company, I went to that store and ordered a wovenwooden kitchen shade nearly four months ago. I paid the onehalf deposit of $33.74 and was told I would have my shade in three, possibly only two weeks.

The previous drapes were removed for painting purposes and I'm most unhappy about still having a very bare kitchen window. We have called and called and been into the store several times and still no shade and no real hope of getting it.

They finally ooffered to return our deposit. However, after all this writing, why can't they provide my shade? - Mrs. J. W., Claremont.

The merchant you placed your order with explained supplies he needed for your shade had been late in arriving. He said you would have the shade within a few days.

Since then, you have phoned to say your received the shade and it is "perfect."

I wish with all my heart that you could give me an answer to my problem. It seems trivial, but it is important to me.

I operate a small business even though I suffer from a heart condition. A lady next door has small children who come in and out of the store at all times of the day.

The little one picks at the tomatoes, throws the candy on the floor, picks up things. My nerves are all wrecked. I had words with the mother but she claims the store is a public place and I have to take it. Could I put up a sign that I have the right to refuse service to anybody? - M. A., Pomona. Yes, you can legally put up such a sign, although you might alienate some customers with bare feet.

A call to the police will bring a patrolman to your address when the children are giving you trouble.

They classify a plight such as yours as a "juvenile problem" and probably would talk to the children and their mother about the situation.

Councilmen to ponder outside aid for expensive burglary task force

POMONA - The City Council Tuesday night will consider whether to seek nearly $1 million in grants during the next three years to pay for the police department's 13-man, special burglary

Grants would be sought through the California Council on Criminal Justice, under the provisions of the federal Safe Streets Act.

The city previously applied for a grant but when that was turned down last November, the council used funds from the city's first-year entitlement of federal revenue sharing funds to go ahead with the formation of the special

"The continued funding of the burglary task force is very expensive to the city's general revenue sharing budget and will average approximately $333,000 per year, or $1 million for the next three years," said Joe Korpsak, assistant city administrator.

"After that, general revenue sharing funds will expire and no additional funds would be available for this task force. In fact, it is conceivable that after this year the city will either have to cut back on its task force or discontinue its funding completely."

The grant for the first year would be for $315,738, which includes $11,840 in city matching funds.

Korpsak said he was notified by the Los Angeles Regional Criminal Justice Planning Board that Pomona's grant proposal under CCCJ funding has been selected for inclusion in the 1973 Regional Comprehensive Criminal Justice

From 1962 to 1972, Pomona's population has grown 22.5 per cent while the crime rate has increased 291.2 per cent and the burglary rate, more than 400 per cent, more than twice the county's increase of 181.5 per cent over the same period.

"Costs for the task force which was initially authorized November 1972 have a significant budget impact of $175,000 for 1972-73, $250,000 for 1973-74 and approximately $315,000 for 1974-75," said Korpsak.

The consent calendar for the council's 8 p.m. meeting includes:

-Second reading of an ordinance fixing salaries for sworn police personnel. -Second reading of an ordinance raising impoundment fees by the Humane Society of Pomona Valley.

-Recommendation by Acting City Administrator Larry B. Thomas that the city protest the issuance of an onsale beer license to the Shanty, 446 E. Mission Blvd., by the state Alcoholic Beverage Control board.

Pentagon flunks its weapons tests

There's much in the news these days about major Soviet advances in intercontinental missiles, warships and submarines. But equally alarming is information leaking out in bits and pieces on weaknesses, and possible unknown weaknesses, in a range of U.S. weapons in part a result of insufficient testing before purchase.

Unpublicized Pentagon studies, made at the request of Congress, raise questions as to both the reliability and vulnerability in actual war conditions of weapons on which this country would depend in a

Back in July 1970, the blue ribbon panel found that Pentagon testing of new weapons before procurement was inadequate. There was, of course, development testing by the contractors; but the Defense Department rather consistently fumbled when it came to operational testing of new weapons in a realistic (simulated wartime) environment. And when such testing was done, it was carried out too late to influence key procurement decisions.

The panel reported also that testing new weapons against the capabilities of other weapons, or in conjunction with other weapons, was generally lacking, even though this is the way most weapons are used in actual war.

Recent evidence suggests that while some improvements have been made in testing and more planned, the Department of Defense has not made the progress it should have in this matter. As a result, we have met up with unhappy surprises in Vietnam and are likely to have more rude shocks if we ever become engaged in a nuclear war for our

Note these admissions in recent Pentagon statements to congressional committees:

Our testing ranges have still not been "structured" to permit realistic multi-aircraft operational test and evaluation. "Before Vietnam, we expected AA (antiaircraft) guns to have only limited effect against attacking aircraft. Yet we lost heavily to such guns . . .

"Most radar bombing accuracy tables are based on drops made in open ranges against uncluttered radar reflectors . . . When our forces in Southeast Asia attempted such missions, errors were normally much larger than expected."

The Pentagon is just now preparing to make radar bombing test runs in simulated battle conditions with cluttered radar and other distractions.

Laser-guided "smart" bombs were a sensation in the closing weeks of American participation in the Vietnam war. It is known theoretically that countermeasures are possible. Yet the Department of Defense has not yet run realistic tests to determine how vulnerable these new weapons may be. Testing is planned.

The Air Force needs more realistic operational terminal-guidance information on radar-guided and infrared homing air-to-air missiles for producing improved missile design.

Better testing in all these areas is promised - in the future. After failures and deaths and widespread reports of ineffectiveness or possible future weaknesses. This time we were up against an enemy with a paucity of technically advanced weapons (with some noted exceptions). The time for testing, as the blue ribbon panel noted - and they meant rigorous battle condition simulation - was before purchase. Certainly before purchase in any quantity and most certainly before widespread use in actual

Watergate cost irony

One of the ironical spinoffs of Phase I of the Watergate investigation is the fact that while the three major television networks were taking a financial bath by their extensive coverage, public TV coined

According to Broadcasting magazine the nets report than their loss in terms of reduced profits was certainly no less than $7 million, and probably will exceed $10 million. By contrast, the noncommercial stations across the country which ran the full daily sessions on a delayed basis were rewarded by an estimated $1 million in contributions, regularly a major source of their income. One California PTV station, KQED San Francisco, reported $75,000 in

The commercial networks, using the rotation plan instituted after the hearings had started, broadcast some 320 hours in all. ABC's total was 6 hours more than those of CBS and NBC because it aired more of the investigation during times whehn it was not required to do so under the rotation agreement.

The profit loss to the nets resulted from the preempting of national, regional and local advertising spots during those hours. The fact that Phase II is scheduled for a time when their prime-time period begins has them concerned, because they will have less flexibility in re-scheduling spots and would therefore be subject to greater proportional profit

Public TV has no such worries, however. According to the National Public Affairs Center for Television, the 238 noncommercial stations hope for continued generous contributions stemming from planned Phase II broadcasts, probably down some proportionately from the "well in excess" of $1 million so far received.

One nice thing about the newspaper business is that extensive coverage of nationally important affairs doesn't have the built-in income problem faced by the broadcast media.

FTC knuckles under to industry

WASHINGTON - The Federal Trade Commission produced a dramatic booklet warning against unscrupulous practices by vocational schools, then secretly deep-sixed almost 100,000 of the books when the schools protested.

This buckling to the industry he is supposed to regulate was one of the first tests for FTC Chairman Lewis Engman, who was recently appointed by President Nixon to protect consumers from voracious business prac-

The 24-page booklet has been painstakingly put together by FTC staffers and was handsomely printed for distribution to the public. But the vocational school industry got wind of it and beefed mightily to the FTC.

When they complained, Engman called a special meeting of the commissioners, who were on vacation. Not all showed up. Those present quickly voted to put up the money for a revised booklet, which looks identical but actually leaves out some of the most stinging criticism of the profit-making

Copies compated

Although most of the original 93,000copy edition is now moldering in the FTC's basement, we managed to obtain one copy and found it is substantially stronger than the second version, which is being released to the public with the blessing of Engman and the vocational schools.

For instance, in warning about phony degrees granted by some schools, the original pamphlet stated: "The value of a degree or diploma granted by a junior college, college or university is reliable. The worth of a degree or diploma given by a private, profit-making vocational school is sometimes more questionable."

That passage is deleted in the second booklet and its absence is noteworthy. Many states, following a model program instituted by North Carolina, have established community colleges and vocational schools that are often superior to, and competing for the same students as commercial schools.

Another caveat expurgated by the FTC says, "Vocational schools often have names which are very similar in sound or spelling to famous organizations just so you may confuse the two." The complaint is nonethleless valid: Firms like IBM are continually plagued by education hucksters trading on their easily recognized initials.

The original text contains this warning: "If a course has a very low drop-out rate, it may be too easy and the school may be a 'diploma mill.' Some courses are designed to be so easy students will complete them and schools will get all the money." This was deleted entirely from the revised brochure.

FTC Commissioner Paul Rand Dixon, who was not at the rush meeting on the booklet, said, "I've got kind of a soft spot in my heart for correspondence schools. Not everyone has a rich daddy (but) some of these places are just out and out diploma mills."

Joan Z. Bernstein, acting director of FTC's Bureau of Consumer Protection, said the commission had "planned a second edition anyway." She insisted there were no pressures to alter the text, but admitted there were objections from representatives of the vocational schools.

"We've never printed anything like this before," Mrs. Bernstein said. "We wanted to do it right." There are, how-

Gossip for today

After one reaches a certain age, life becomes a constant battle to turn back the hands of time. Which is why so many of us old coots tune in the fourth or fifth time out TV movie reruns. There is a feeling of security in the old familiar faces; a sense of rightness in the well remembered lines the actors speak. What's more, there are the songs—songs so old we even know the words. And even the obscen-ity is something we can understand.

Yes indeed! There is a lot to be said in favor of those late, late, late, late movie reruns! But why oh why can't they be scheduled at some earlier more decent hour so that we oldsters wouldn't fall asleep and miss seeing the hero and heroine walking slowly, hand in hand, into the sunset?

INSIDE REPORT

Agnew more own man than ever

By Rowland Evans and Robert Novak

WASHINGTON - Out of deepening mystery which conceals many vital details of the conference between the nation's two highest officials, one hard fact has emerged: Vice President Spiro Agnew bluntly informed President Nixon that, indicted or not, he will fight alone to the end any effort to force his Agnew's line on no resignation, moreover, was coupled with an earthily frank assessment of his chances to be indicted by the grand jury.

Thus the Vice President's long, candid talk with the President, covering a full two hours-his second with Mr. Nixon on the criminal investigation into alleged kickbacks before Agnew was elected Vice President-amounted to a declaration of political independence from Richard M. Nixon.

The signal that Agnew was preparing his own lonely defense line, and would hold out on that line for as long as he could, was clearly evident in the careful construction he used in his Aug. 21 press conference demanding a full-fledged investigation of Justice Department leaks on the Agnew investigation. Agnew bluntly noted then that he would not be driven out of "the high office to which I have been twice elected"-the only office in the land, besides the presidency, filled by a vote of

As viewed by some key presidential aides, Agnew has served notice on the President, and on the country, that if indicted he will continue to protest his total innocence; if convicted he will appeal all the way up to the Supreme Court.

Agnew extremely shrewd "Ted Agnew is handling his problems in an extremely shrewd manner," one admiring official told us. "If he is indicted, he might be able to tie this thing up in the courts until the second Nixon term comes to a natural end." Agnew admirers, numbering among them some of the most influential politicans in the Republican party, are coldly unambiguous in describing their hopes and convictions of how the Vice President would react to an indictment.

He would, they predict, first move completely away from any direct contact with the executive branch. Closing his office in the Executive Office Building across the street from the White House, he would retreat to his Capitol Hill offices and remain there, carrying out his constitutional duties: that is, presiding over the Senate.

That separation would have more symbolic than practical effect. It would symbolize Agnew's freedom of action as an official elected by all the voters.

How much of this granite-hard mood so clearly felt by Agnew's admirers was also reflected in the Sept. 1 Oval Office conference is still a mystery, but it is no mystery at all that Agnew has been aggrieved by White House actions involving Thus, Agnewites regard the White House decision a week ago to announce his meeting with the President as a "calculated nuance" designed to embarrass Agnew. The Vice President had quietly and routinely suggested he meet with Mr. Nixon when the President returned from California at the President's convenience. The announcement at San Clemente carried hints of a momentous pending event.

White House rumors Likewise, Agnewites scoff at the White House rationale that the unusual public announcement of the meeting was necessary because of rumors Agnew would resign. All such rumors, say intimates of the Vice President, emanated not from Agnewites but from sources close to the White House. Further, Republican politicians close to Agnew are now reporting as a hard fact what was only vaguely hinted in early 1972 when the Agnew-Nixon ticket was still a question. They now say that Agnew, rightly or wrongly, was convinced Mr. Nixon wanted to knock him off the ticket in favor of John B.

Finally, the Vice President has found an invidious contrast between Mr. Nixon's tepid defense of him (always limited to his vice-presidency) and the defense of Agnew by such other politicians as Democrat Marvin Mandel, Agnew's successor as governor of Maryland. "Knowing the individual and having worked with him," Mandel has said, "I would be greatly shocked and amazed if some of the accusations made were

All this is the background of Agnew's new independence Whether his strategy could overcome a possible post-indict ment move to impeach him, on grounds that no one indicted on criminal charges should stand a heartbeat away from the presidency, is something for the future. For the present, as he informed Mr. Nixon last week, Agnew is more his own man than ever before, whatever lies ahead.

THE LIGHTER SIDE

College nest eggs wiped out

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) -One of the many cruelties of inflation is the way it prematurely exhausts the savings that parents have put aside for their children's education.

This fact was brought home to us again this week as schools across the nation reopened for the first time under Phase IV of the government's economic program.

Typical of the plight of many parents was that of Mr. and Mrs. Clement Upbash, who live in my block.

"We have been scrimping and cutting corners and pinching pennies every since our son Wally was born,"

Mrs. Upbash told me, almost in tears. "We thought we had put aside enough to see him through four years of college, but it took every cent we had just to get him started in school

I said, "There's no doubt that school tuitions are climbing out of sight."

"Who's talking about tuition?" Mrs. Upbash wailed. "I'm talking about Woody Woodpecker lunch boxes."

And not only are school supplies outrageously expensive, wiping out most college nest eggs at the fifth grade level. Some items are scarce as School officials in many places report shortages of fuel and paper and have asked teachers and pupils to conserve supplies. Hardships and deprivations are inevitable, but students and faculties appear to be cooperating beautifully. Here are some examples turned up in a coast-to-coast survey: -When Willis Stubfinger, seventh grade student in Freebee, Iowa, was assigned to write a three-page essay on "My Summer Vacation," he voluntarily ended his composition at the

Your editorial of September 2nd rejoices that other forms of transportation can now get a "Fair Share" of the Highway Trust Funds. What's fair about it escapes us.

Meals on Wheels helpers to hold workshop in Chino

CHINO - A workshop and tea will be held by the Chino Meals on Wheels for volunteers and community persons interested in the project Wednesday from 1 to 3 p.m.

The event will be held at the Chino library at Central and D Street.

Margaret Hughes, a volunteer deliverer for the Pasadena Meals on Wheels, will relate her experiences as a member of that city's program. She has made numerous speeches and given assistance to groups throughout the Southland interested in establishing the program which delivers hot noon meals to persons confined to their homes.

Pasadena was the first Meals on Wheels to incorporate under that name in California nine years ago. Each community organizes, controls and operates its own Meals on Wheels as an independent, nonprofit corporation.

Volunteers, said program president Charlotte Brickler, are the heart of the program and are urgently needed for the smooth beginning of the program this month. With 60 volunteers, she noted, no deliverers will need to serve more than two hours every two weeks. "Chino Meals on Wheels cannot exist without the generosity of volunteers," she said.

At Wednesday's workshop, the volunteers will receive instructions and procedures.

Persons in the community wishing to offer their servies as voluneers may call Mrs. Brickler, 628-4657 or come to the meeting.

To apply for service, persons should call Lupe Subia, 628-5167 or Djo Bokma, 986-1606. Any friends, neighbor or relative knowing someone who cannot shop or cook for himself should give that person's name and address to Mrs. Subia or Mrs. Bokma.

The board of directors of Chino Meals on Wheels will meet Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Christian Reformed Church, 6159 Riverside Drive. All board meetings are open to the public.

By MAE TATE P-B Staff Writer CHINO - Loretta Melaney has lived for nearly three-fourths of a century, but her philosophy and way of life are filled with a spontaneous joy of life and for people. Mrs. Melaney, 72, has been a Chino resident for 23 years and became involved last November in the volunteer program of the Chino General Hospital Women's Auxiliary. She recently became the first volunteer to achieve 300 hours at the hospital. The resident of 4052 Philadelphia St. did volunteer work at Long Beach Veterans' Hospilal before coming to Chino

"I figured I was needed some place. I wanted to help. I told them I was 70 years old, but I certainly don't feel that way," she laughed.

"I think age is what you make it. You make your life and your age. You can sit in a rocking chair or you can be gracious and graceful. After my husband passed away, I felt there was something in this world I still had to do. That's why I was left-to help people," she said.

Mrs. Melaney began her work at Chino General on Nov. 17, 1972, exactly two years after her husband suffered a stroke.

"If I could drive a car, kid, you wouldn't see me for dust! I'd be at the hospital everyday. Some people just need someone to talk to. I just don't get blue being alone, but some people do. If I can help, I want to."

"I work at least two to three days a week. I put in the hours whenever I can or somebody can pick me up. I love the work and the people and it's been just lovely for me to work there,"

Her actual working hours are 11 a.m. to 2 p.m., but hospital employes often see her puttering around in the cafeteria before and after those hours.

"Where you're needed is where you should be. Right?" she asked in expla-

Mrs. Melaney gave up her Sunday School class teaching at the Foursquare Church of Pomona to devote more time to the volunteer services at the hospital. Her concern releases the single and young married women from work on Sundays.

"The trouble in the world today is we don't have enough togetherness and understanding. I don't care what you are. People are people. We have to live and let live and we must be good to one another. If people would learn to live with one another instead of pulling away, it would be such a better world," she said.

Mrs. Melaney calls upon an inner strength for her courage and enthusiasm for life. Her husband died 13 days before their golden wedding anniversary. Her memories of him and their life together are good ones.

She shares her life now with a 10year-old Pomeranian dog who emphathizes with her every emotion and a host of friends who are always there when she calls. She received letters and calls regularly from her 51-yearold son Don in Pittsburgh and her four grandchildren.

"I'm made of steel. It takes a lot to get me down," she boasted.

"I've had a good life. I want to feel that if I can do anything to help others, I can and will."

Homes, firms get attention Montclair

MONTCLAIR - Residents last month focused on repairing and expanding their homes and businesses.

City officials issued 17 permits for additions and alterations to nonresidential structures, reflecting a valuation of $323,400, and 57 permits for residential additions and alterations, with an $84,-

For August, a total of 103 permits was issued for a combined valuation of $441,589. This boosted the totals so far this year to 847 permits and a $5 million valuation.

The major project was the addition to a medical office building at 4950 Fremont Ave., owned by the National Medical Enterprises. The job is valued at $253,000. In addition, the firm plans spending $30,000 for heating, ventilating and refrigeration of the same building.

The visiting Nurses Association also took out a permit for interior alterations to its building at 5156 Holt Blvd., valued at $10,000.

Other permits issued last month in-

Residential garages and carports, two, $3,100; structures other than buildings, nine, $3,766; swimming pools, four, $18,400; all other permits, three, $8,500; and signs, four, $400.

School headquarters relocated in Chino

CHINO - The administration offices at Chino High School have been moved to rooms seven, eight and nine on the southwest side of the campus.

The relocation came a week ago when the administrative trailer that housed the vice principal and his secretary were moved to Buena Vista High School. The new rooms will house the principal, vice principal, deans of students, attendance office and school secretaries.

Smog damaging county oranges

Not ready for the rocking chair yet

SAN BERNARDINO - Heavy doses of smog are having an adverse effect on new citrus crops in San Bernardino County.

The navel orange crop shows the effect of adverse weather conditions more than other varieties, with some trees having no fruit and others with only a box of more, said Warren A. Burr, assistant county agricultural commissioner.

High temperature periods during May and June, a long bloom period plus large amounts of air pollution are deemed repsonsible for this condition, he reported.

The present harvest of Valencia oranges ranges between 90 and 100 field boxes per acre. At present, there ar 8,059 acres of bearing navel oranges in San Bernardino County.

Valencia oranges and grapefruit will also be reduced considerably, said Burr. The new lemon crop, however, shows improvement as the newly set fruit and bloom appear.

The presnet harvest of Valencia oranges is about 70 per cent complete. An increase in granulation is tending to reduce the grade, thus diversion of the fruit to products is increasing. The export demand remains good.

The summer grapefruit harvest is nearly 80 per cent complete. Fruit size remians small, with the bulk of the fruit being exported, said Burr.

In a summary of citrus crops, Burr estimated these yields. Valencia oranges, 5.096 bearing acres, 160 field boxes per acre; lemons, 2,537 bearing acres, 135 field boxes per acre; and grapefruit, 1,482 bearing acres, and 278 field boxes per acre.

The harvest of wine grapes has begun, with yields expected to be good on most varieties. The apple crop in the Oak Glen area is developing normally, with the harvest also starting this month.

Peach and plum harvests in Yucaipa is nearing completion. Sweet corn and Italian onion harvests are also nearly completed and the field corn harvest for silage has started with good yields.

Building tops $1 million for Ontario

ONTARIO - An apartment house and school building topped construction projects here last month.

The new apartment house, to be built at 1480 E. Fifth St., will be a three story structure with 48 units. It's valued at $770,700.

The Guasti School District proposes constructing an 8,500-square-foot structure at 2230 E. Fourth St. The valuation is $240,000.

Four proposed commercial projects are valued at $194,120. These include:

-an addition to an auto dealership service shop at 1050 W. Holt Blvd., $30,000; a bread store, 935 E. Holt Blvd., $97,500; an auto repair garage, 1031 E. Holt Blvd., $35,000; and the addition of five units to an existing motel, 1440 W. Mission Blvd., $31,620.

And the governor loved it

Reagan insulted on Martin show

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) son. Each week Martin -Gov. Ronald Reagan stood accused of being a transvestite, a wretched actor, dying his hair and causing the recent spate of California earthquakes.

The governor sat at a banquet table while one guest after another bombarded him with insults. When it was all over, former actor Reagan beamed mightily and thanked his friends for their useful and kindly observations.

It was all in fun and a segment of Dean Martin's television show for the new seanames a Man of the Week who is roasted in Friar's Club fashion by a group of stars. This particular week the roasters were Don Rickles, Mark Spitz, Phyllis Diller, Jonathan Winters, Nipsey Russell, Jack Benny, Audrey Meadows, Pat Henry, Dom DeLuise and Jackie Vernon. Reagan's roast will lead off

"The Dean Martin Comedy Show" Sept. 14 with the governor kidding that the program may not be aired: "I might invoke executive privilege and refuse to release the

It was Audrey Meadows who accused the governor of being a transvestite and whipped out a large flowered hat for his head. Jack Benny said he couldn't recall whether his long-time friend, "Ronnie" pronounced his name "Reegan" or "Ravgan," adding that it didn't matter much either way. Jonathan Winters completely undid the governor when he tottered on stage in his Maudie Frickert outfit claiming to be Reagan's old school teacher from Illinois. He embraced the governor and recalled a wildly improbable Reagan boyhood.

Nipsey Russell, a black comedian, was introdudced as the governor's twin brother. 'Ronald was the white sheep in our family," Russell said. "When my father said he was going to tan our hides, he caught me but brother Ronald got away."

"You're nothing, and I mean that from my heart," Don Rickles told Reagan.

"You probably don't recall, Governor, but we met once before. It was right here in the halls of NBC. I'll never forget your words to me as our paths crossed. You said, 'Get out of the way, kid!""

Reagan roared with laughter as Rickles lambasted him time and again.

"I heard about you standing outside the White House window throwing rocks at the window and calling, 'Richard. Richard.' But please Mr. Governor, don't beg. Be a man. Just walk right in the White House and tell him to get out."

Much of the humor was directed at the possibility that Reagan would run for the presidency in 1976. Reagan took it all good naturedly.

Richard Nixon enhanced his image with viewers during his first campaign for the White House with an appearance on the top-rated "Rowan and Martin Laugh-In."

Although the Reagan roast ing went on for more than an hour, little more than 5 minutes of the action will be incorporated in the show-all of it funny
